TEACHERS’ KIT
Warkworth Castle and Hermitage

This kit helps teachers plan a visit to Warkworth Castle and Hermitage, home to the Percy family for 600 years. Use these resources before, during and after your visit to help students get the most out of their learning.
WELCOME

This Teachers’ Kit for Warkworth Castle and Hermitage has been designed for teachers and group leaders to support a free self-led visit to the site. It includes a variety of materials suited to teaching a wide range of subjects and key stages, with practical information, activities for use on site and ideas to support follow-up learning.

We know that each class and study group is different, so we have collated our resources into one kit allowing you to decide which materials are best suited to your needs. Please use the contents page, which has been colour-coded to help you easily locate what you need, and view individual sections. All of our activities have clear guidance on the intended use for study so you can adapt them for your desired learning outcomes.

To further aid your planning, we have created Hazard Information sheets, which you can download from the Warkworth Castle and Hermitage Schools page.

We hope you enjoy your visit and find this Teachers’ Kit useful. If you have any queries, please don’t hesitate to get in touch with a member of our team either via bookeducation@english-heritage.org.uk or on 0370 333 0606.

WARKWORTH CASTLE AND HERMITAGE

SITE PLAN
EARLY SETTLEMENTS AND THE EARLY CASTLE

A recent geophysical survey in the medieval parkland in front of Warkworth Castle has shown a group of circular features. These could be enclosures and hut circles dating to prehistory before the town of Warkworth and the castle were built.

The town of Warkworth dates back to the Anglo-Saxon period. The first castle at Warkworth probably had a Norman earth motte and bailey with wooden defences and buildings. Although no buildings or walls from this time survive, the Norman earthworks still form the outline of the castle today. We don’t know who built the first stone castle but at some time between 1157 and 1164 the property was given to Roger fitz Eustace, a rich nobleman, by King Henry II (r.1154–89).

It’s likely that Roger fitz Eustace’s son, Robert, may have been responsible for the castle layout as it is today, constructed between 1199 and 1214. Robert was a favourite of King John (r.1199–1216) and in 1203 he became sheriff of Northumberland, a powerful royal official. In 1213, King John visited him at Warkworth Castle.
ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND AT WAR

Life on the Scottish border was transformed during the reign of the English king Edward I (r.1272–1307). Edward was invited to referee a dispute over who should be the next King of Scots and used the opportunity to claim control of the kingdom. The result was a long-running war between England and Scotland. Castles near the border played an important role in the war, with successive English kings providing funds to develop and maintain them. The owners of Warkworth were closely involved in the fighting. In 1319, 24 soldiers held the castle against attack and in 1327 the Scots unsuccessfully besieged Warkworth twice.

THE POWERFUL PERCYS

In 1328, Edward III granted Warkworth to Henry Percy, the 2nd Lord Percy. The Percys were one of the richest and most powerful families in England. They were descended from a Norman nobleman who may have come to England after the Norman Conquest in 1066.

Henry Percy, the 1st Earl of Northumberland (1341–1408) began a large-scale building programme at Warkworth. He built the impressive keep to show off his wealth and power.

However, the Percy family spent much of their time in rebellion against various kings and queens. The 1st Earl and his son, Harry Hotspur, helped to remove Richard II from the throne in 1399. They then fought against Henry IV (r.1399–1413), who they had helped put on the throne in Richard’s place. In 1403, Hotspur was killed in the Battle of Shrewsbury, fighting against the king and his army.

His father joined another unsuccessful rebellion against Henry IV in 1405, led by the Archbishop of York. The king gathered an army and marched north, while Earl Henry fled to Scotland. The king’s army besieged Warkworth, where the garrison surrendered after the king had fired just seven cannon shots.
THE WARS OF THE ROSES

The Percy family initially supported the House of Lancaster in the Wars of the Roses. The 2nd Earl of Northumberland was killed at the Battle of St Albans in 1455, and his son, the 3rd Earl, was killed at the Battle of Towton, in 1461. This battle brought about a change in ruler, with Yorkist Edward IV (r.1461–70 and 1471–83) becoming king.

In 1471, Edward IV gave the Percy family estates to the 3rd Earl’s son, another Henry Percy. Henry started to remodel the castle bailey and began construction of the collegiate church. He created the Lion Tower and added the carved heraldry above the door.

LIFE IN THE PERCY HOUSEHOLD

Large medieval households like the Percys’ were complicated. They employed many different people from all backgrounds and were sometimes organised according to a set of written rules. In around 1512, the 5th Earl (1477–1527) brought together the Percy household’s records and regulations in two big books. These were known together as the Northumberland Household Book.

The Book shows that there were 166 permanent members of the 5th Earl’s household. Amongst these were:

10 clerks, 2 cupbearers, 2 carvers, a painter, a joiner, 2 falconers, 20 grooms, 6 child servants, 2 minstrels, a dean, 6 chaplains, 8 gentleman singers, 6 choristers and an organist.

It also records a strict daily timetable at Warkworth, including two main meals at 10am and 4pm. Mealtimes in important households like this one involved a lot of pomp and ceremony – the earl, his wife and his heir were waited on at table by ten servants.

Another important part of the Household Book is a record of entertainments organised for special occasions. This included a performance by the king’s jugglers and a nativity play put on by members of the chapel on New Year’s Eve.
THE TUDOR CASTLE

Warkworth Castle was surrendered to the Crown in 1537 when the 6th Earl of Northumberland died without an heir. None of the royal officials would pay for repairs and by 1557 the Northumberland family estates were regained by the 6th Earl’s nephew, Thomas Percy.

In 1569, Thomas co-led an unsuccessful Catholic rebellion supporting Mary, Queen of Scots against the Protestant Elizabeth I (r.1558–1603). This is sometimes known as the Rising of the North or the Revolt of the Northern Earls. Queen Elizabeth’s forces took control at Warkworth Castle. Thomas was captured in Scotland and executed in York in 1572.

THE STUARTS AND THE CIVIL WAR

Following the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot in 1605, the 9th Earl of Northumberland was imprisoned for having links to one of the conspirators. He was fined £30,000 (over £9 million today) and held for 17 years in the Tower of London.

During the English Civil War (1642–51), the Scots controlled Warkworth Castle in support of Parliament. They returned it to the 10th Earl, who also supported Parliament.
RUIN AND REVIVAL

The 11th Earl’s widow inherited the Warkworth estates in 1670 but had no use for the castle and allowed an estate official to remove timber and lead. By 1672, the castle was just a shell.

In 1766, the Percy family were made Dukes of Northumberland. The 4th Duke of Northumberland, Algernon Percy (1792–1865), employed the famous architect Anthony Salvin to restore the Great Tower and add the Duke’s Rooms to the upper floor.

In 1922, Warkworth Castle was taken into state guardianship. The Duke’s Rooms, however, remained under the control of the Percy family until 1987.

THE HERMITAGE

The Hermitage is a small rock-cut chapel, surrounded by trees, along the river Coquet from Warkworth Castle. It was probably built around 1400 by Henry Percy, 1st Earl of Northumberland, in the medieval hunting park next to the castle.

The first written record of the Hermitage is in 1487, when Thomas Barker was made chaplain by the 4th Earl. He was probably never a recluse like the term ‘hermit’ suggests. The Hermitage was where a chaplain performed services in return for payment from the Percys and other benefits. The last known priest to use the Hermitage was George Lancastre, the 6th Earl’s chaplain, in the early 16th century. He was paid 20 marks (around £5,800 today) and given pasture for his livestock, a garden and orchard nearby, fish every Sunday and 20 loads of firewood.

After the Reformation, the Hermitage wasn’t used for religious purposes. Over time, it became a romantic ruin inspiring Bishop Percy to write a popular ballad, The Hermit of Warkworth, in 1771.

Today the Hermitage can only be reached by a small boat rowed by a member of English Heritage staff. This is only available to general visitors to the castle on certain days.
Below is a list of words you might come across while exploring Warkworth Castle. Use this Glossary to find out what they mean.

Anglo-Saxon – the period between around 410 and 1066 when the Angles and Saxons settled in England. The Norman Conquest in 1066 marks the end of the Anglo-Saxon period.

archbishop – the head of the church; the highest-ranking religious official in England

bailey – an open and largely flat area at the centre of a castle, often surrounded by a stone curtain wall

Battle of Shrewsbury (1403) – a conflict between an army led by King Henry IV and an army led by Henry ‘Harry Hotspur’ Percy. The rebels lost and Harry Hotspur was killed by the king’s men.

Battle of St Albans (1455) – the first battle in the Wars of the Roses between the Yorkists (supporting Richard, Duke of York) and the Lancastrians (supporting King Henry VI). Richard and his army won the battle and captured the king.

Battle of Towton (1461) – an important battle in the Wars of the Roses. The Yorkists won the battle and the victorious Edward, Duke of York, became King Edward IV.

besiege – to surround a place with an army in order to capture it or force the people inside to surrender

Catholic – referring to the Roman Catholic faith. The head of the Roman Catholic Church is the pope, who runs the Church from Rome. England was largely Catholic before the reign of Henry VIII. He converted to Protestantism and after that, Catholic people were viewed with suspicion and faced persecution.

clerk – a person keeping records or accounts, and undertaking other duties to help keep things running smoothly collegiate church – in Roman Catholicism, a church in which daily worship is undertaken by a college of canons: a clergy community that isn’t part of a monastery.

conspirator – a person who takes part in a secret plot.

duke – a very high-ranking title in England, above ‘earl’ and below ‘prince’. It is the highest-ranking title outside of the royal family.

earl – a title given to an English nobleman ranking above ‘lord’ and below ‘duke’.

English Civil War (1642–51) – a bloody conflict between the Parliamentarians and the Royalists. They disagreed on how England should be governed and by whom. The Parliamentarians believed the monarchy was corrupt and England should be ruled by Parliament instead.

garrison – the community of people based at a castle with the task of defending it, including foot soldiers and cavalry (on horses).

Gunpowder Plot (1605) – a failed plan to blow up the Houses of Parliament on 5th November and kill the Protestant King James I in order to replace him with a Catholic ruler.

Harry Hotspur – the nickname of Sir Henry Percy (1364–1403), a knight and the eldest son of the 1st Earl of Northumberland. He was nicknamed ‘Hotspur’ by the Scots because of his speed and readiness to attack his enemies.

heir – a person who is legally entitled to the family estates. In families where the father held lands, in the event of the father’s death, the eldest male would have the first claim. In situations where all the children were female, each would receive a portion of the claim.

heraldry – the use of symbols to display power and identity.

hermit – a person who lives away from others in seclusion. This can be because they want to dedicate themselves to their religion.

household – a term describing a house and the people who live within it. In the Middle Ages, a noble household could include a lord or lady, their family and their servants.

keep – the central tower of a castle, often the finest residential and ceremonial quarters.

lord – a title given to a nobleman in England.

minstrel – a musician or singer. In the Middle Ages, minstrels recited poetry to music in noble households as a form of entertainment.
motte and bailey – a type of castle built on a mound surrounded by an area of ground; introduced in England by the Normans

Norman Conquest – the occupation of England after the defeat of King Harold II by the forces of Duke William of Normandy after winning the Battle of Hastings in 1066

Norman Conquest – the occupation of England after the defeat of King Harold II by the forces of Duke William of Normandy after winning the Battle of Hastings in 1066 prehistory – used to describe a time in the past before writing was used. Prehistory is split into three time periods: the Stone Age, the Bronze Age and the Iron Age.

referee – the person chosen to judge and regulate a medieval battle, usually a high-ranking official with combat experience

Rising of the North – an unsuccessful rebellion by Catholic nobles in the north of England against Elizabeth I in 1569. They resented the way that the Protestant queen had tried to limit their power by giving authority over some of their northern lands to southern nobles.

sheriff – a powerful government official who represented the king

Wars of the Roses (1455–87) – a series of battles between two rival houses both descended from royal ancestors the House of York and the House of Lancaster. Both groups wanted control of the throne. The rival houses adopted white and red roses as their emblems, and these were worn by their supporters.

Self-led Activity

Why Build a Power Base Here?

Recommended for
KS2–3 (History, Geography)

Learning objectives
• Understand the extent of the Percy estates in Northumberland during the Middle Ages and the types of buildings and land within them.
• Reflect on what the location of Warkworth Castle reveals about how medieval lords controlled their lands and the people who lived there.

Time to complete
Approx. 25 minutes

Summary
Warkworth Castle was a key power base for the Percy family during the Middle Ages and they developed it as a grand residence. This activity helps students explore the extent of the Percy estates in Northumberland and the nature of medieval lordship within local communities like Warkworth.

Suggested approach
Show students a map of the Percy estates (Source 1, page 44) and a map of the barony of Warkworth (1623), Source 8 on page 48. They should find Warkworth and identify any other towns or features they recognise (e.g. Hadrian’s Wall or the Scottish border). Are there any recurring features (for example, castles)?

Show students a satellite view of Warkworth today. Compare this with Sources 8 and 9 on page 48. Students should consider the location of the castle in relation to the rest of the town and its medieval features (for example, the church and the bridge).

Introduce context around the Percy family’s rise to power in Northumberland (notes on page 22). Students can use this information and their map-reading to suggest three reasons the Percys employed builders like John Lewyn to create extravagant architectural designs on high ground at Warkworth. Possible answers are in the Teachers’ Notes on page 23.

Activity extension
Use the town of Warkworth as a case study for understanding the feudal system. More information about key medieval features in Warkworth town is in the Teachers’ Notes on page 23 and the map on page 24.

More learning ideas
Students can use their understanding of the key elements of a medieval power base to design for their own medieval town. They should pay particular attention to the positioning of their castle.
WHY BUILD A POWER BASE HERE?

TEACHERS’ NOTES

UNDERSTANDING THE PERCYS AND WARKWORTH CASTLE

- Henry de Percy (1273–1314) supported Edward I’s campaign to extend the English king’s control in Scotland. Robert the Bruce’s successes against this campaign forced de Percy further south into England.

- After this, Henry de Percy started to buy up land in Northumberland and the Percys became the greatest landowners in the north east. He bought the castle and barony of Alnwick in 1309.

- Edward III granted Warkworth Castle to Henry Percy, 2nd Lord Percy, in 1328.

- The Percys’ dominance in the north of England led them to become the main guardians of the Anglo-Scottish border. Many successive Percy family members served as wardens of the Scottish Marches.

- Alnwick Castle had larger estates and greater prestige than Warkworth, but the Percys developed Warkworth Castle into a very sophisticated architectural spectacle – it was their favourite home.

- The Percys developed Warkworth Castle as a country home in the 14th and 15th centuries rather than maintaining a traditional castle for defence purposes. The Great Tower was built in the 1380s to impress visitors and show off the Percys’ power and wealth.

- Heraldry was used on the Great Tower and the Lion Tower at Warkworth to display the Percys’ dominance in the local area and their links to other important families. The Percy lion was placed in prominent positions around the castle as a symbol of courage and strength. The lion on the Great Tower can be seen from the town below, while the lion and crests on the Lion Tower in the bailey could be seen by visitors entering the great hall (the main meeting space inside the castle).

WHY DID THE PERCYS BUILD WARKWORTH CASTLE?

Possible answers could include:

- To show off the Percys’ power and dominance as local lords to those living in Warkworth.

- To develop and maintain a defensive position on high ground surrounded by steep slopes near the river Coquet.

- To take advantage of views along the river Coquet and out to sea which impressed visitors to the castle.

- To help maintain control of the extensive lands that the earls of Northumberland owned in the north of England.
WHY BUILD A POWER BASE HERE?

TEACHERS’ NOTES

FEUDALISM AND MEDIEVAL FEATURES IN WARKWORTH TOWN

- Feudalism is a term used to describe how society was organised during the Middle Ages. The monarch was at the top of the social hierarchy. They gave land to the nobility (lords and barons) and the Church. Or, when the land was already in the hands of the nobility, the monarch claimed the ultimate right of ownership. The nobility distributed some land to knights who were required to raise an army to fight for the king when called upon. Nobles allowed peasants to live and farm on their lands in return for taxes, a percentage of their crops and several days of labour.

- The Percys held estates across the north east and north west of England. This included the baronies of Warkworth and Alnwick. They were granted the castle at Warkworth by Edward III in 1328.

- The Percys controlled the rights to producing salt around the village of Amble near Warkworth. Salt produced in pans (large containers or impressions in the ground) here was incredibly valuable because it could be used to preserve meat, particularly fish. The right to fish in local rivers was also worth a lot of money during the Middle Ages. The fishing industry and salt production were incredibly important to the medieval economy.

- Peasants farmed strips of land in and around Warkworth. You can still see the remains of these strips in the long garden plots at the back of houses in the centre of Warkworth.

- There was once a medieval mill to the west of Warkworth Castle. Peasants working on Percy lands were required to take their grain to their lord’s mill to be processed into flour for making bread. Peasants had to give a percentage of their flour to their lord.

- In the area to the east of Warkworth Castle there is a field called Hangman’s Acre. It was the job of local lords like the Percys to dispense justice, including execution, within their estates. This may have been a place of execution or possibly land granted to a hangman as part of their salary.

- The area of houses south of the castle sits on ground formerly called Maudlin. This word derives from the name of a medieval chapel which was situated here, dedicated to St Mary Magdalene.

SELF-LED ACTIVITY
CASTLE EXPLORERS TRAIL

Recommended for
KS1–2, SEND (History)

Learning objectives
• Understand the variety of jobs people had at Warkworth during the 14th and 15th centuries.
• Use replica objects and smell boxes to immerse students in daily life at Warkworth Castle during the Middle Ages.

Time to complete
60–90 minutes

SUMMARY
To ensure that the trail resource is available on the day of your visit, please book the resource with our Education Bookings Team.

This self-guided trail introduces students to some of the people who lived at Warkworth during the Middle Ages through a mixture of interactive activities, smell boxes and object handling. There is a resource booklet on our website and a laminated copy held at Warkworth Castle within the trail resource. This contains Teachers’ Notes and activity suggestions for each stop on the trail, along with flashcards enabling students to take on the roles of particular characters as they explore the castle. The resource also includes six coloured pouches which contain a replica object and/or smell box for students to handle and examine.

Access to the Great Tower is via a wide wooden staircase with 20 steps and there are some raised thresholds inside. Each stop on the trail has an alternative accessible stop within the bailey area. You can find these within the Teachers’ Notes information in the trail booklet.

TRAIL KIT RESOURCE
In the trail resource at Warkworth Castle, you will find:
• A trail booklet, including 14 character flashcards
• Replica objects: crossbow bolts, buttons, belt decorations, quills
• Smell boxes: medieval beer, woodsmoke, incense

Please remember to return the trail resource to the shop before you leave Warkworth Castle.

MORE LEARNING IDEAS
After your visit, set up a balloon debate inviting students to argue that their character had the most important role in daily life at medieval Warkworth. They could work individually, in pairs or in small groups.
Did you know?
Later, in 1538, the upper room of the gatehouse was recorded as being the Earl of Northumberland’s bedchamber. It had large windows facing towards the inside of the castle, overlooking the bailey.

Challenge time!
Imagine you are trying to attack the gatehouse wearing heavy armour and carrying weapons.

How would you get past:
- arrow fire from the towers and ramparts, a gate and portcullis, and warriors in the passageway?

Where is it?
Castle entrance.

Did you find it?

Top things to see
Explore the bailey

See if you can find all of these things and complete each challenge. KS1–2 students can use the tick list on page 33 while their teacher guides them around. KS2–3 students may want to lead their own learning in small groups, supervised by an adult.

Can’t find your way?
Use the map on page 33 to help.
2 STABLES AND WELL HOUSE

Horses and water were very important to castle life in the Middle Ages. A well provided water for drinking, washing and cooking while the stables housed the horses that were needed to transport people and goods. Horses were also used by nobles to ride during hunting. This gave male nobles horse-riding practice for when they would be called into battle.

CHALLENGE TIME!

Think of an activity that horses were used for during the Middle Ages and challenge a partner to guess what it is as you act it out.

DID YOU KNOW?

The 5th Earl of Northumberland had 33 horses for his own use in 1512. His entourage or followers used many more to transport his belongings when he travelled. It took 17 carriages just to transport his household goods!

WHERE IS IT?

Right side of the bailey.

DID YOU FIND IT?

3 LITTLE STAIR TOWER

The Little Stair Tower was built by the 4th Earl of Northumberland. He wanted a grand entrance to his residence in the bailey, the Great Chamber.

WHERE IS IT?

Left side of the bailey.

DID YOU FIND IT?

CHALLENGE TIME!

Find the staircase that originally led up to the anteroom inside the Little Stair Tower. Discuss how you would feel waiting here to see someone important like the Earl of Northumberland.

DID YOU KNOW?

The first floor room of the Little Stair Tower was the anteroom to the Great Chamber. This was where people would wait for an audience with the earl.
4 GREAT CHAMBER

The Great Chamber was the Earl of Northumberland's grand residence in the bailey. It was here that he met with other nobles as well as local people who would bring their problems or complaints to him.

CHALLENGE TIME!

Look up to find the remains of doorways and staircases that linked the Great Chamber to a tower in the curtain wall and the great hall. How many doorways, staircases and fireplaces can you see?

DID YOU KNOW?

This part of the castle was first built in around 1200. There is a rough stone shelf in the curtain wall that shows us where the first floor was.

WHERE IS IT?

Left side of the bailey.

5 OLD HALL RANGE

The great hall is where members of the medieval household ate their meals. Servants prepared food in the rooms connected to the hall.

WHERE IS IT?

Left side of the bailey.

CHALLENGE TIME!

Find where you think the high table was placed in the great hall.

HINT: The most important people would sit furthest away from the service rooms (buttery, pantry, kitchen).

DID YOU KNOW?

Everyone was seated and served in order of importance in the great hall. The most important people were the earl, the countess and their eldest son (heir) who were served first at the 'high table'.

WHERE IS IT?

Left side of the bailey.
COLLEGIATE CHURCH

The cross-shape foundations you can see today are the remains of a church which sat in front of the Great Tower at Warkworth.

WHERE IS IT?
Left side of the bailey.

DID YOU FIND IT?

CHALLENGE TIME!

Discuss what you think the 4th Earl was trying to show through the symbols he used.

TIP: Lions were a symbol of courage and strength in the Middles Ages as well as being fashionable.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Lion Tower is named after the carved lion (Percy symbol) above the door. Other symbols on the tower include the old Percy symbol (thin diamonds) and the Lucy family symbol (three fish).

CHALLENGE TIME!

Compare how long it takes to move between the Lion Tower and the steps of the Great Tower by going around the Collegiate Church versus using the tunnel underneath it. Which is the quickest route?

DID YOU KNOW?

The 4th Earl of Northumberland was murdered in 1489 before he had a chance to finish building the church. He had tried to squeeze it into the castle’s inner bailey, so it’s smaller than you might expect.

WHERE IS IT?
Inner bailey, in front of the Great Tower.

DID YOU FIND IT?
8 GREY MARE’S TAIL TOWER

This tower was built in the 1290s, when England was fighting a bloody war with Scotland.

WHERE IS IT? Right of the collegiate church.

CHALLENGE TIME!

Go up the tower steps, into the tower’s basement, and find the carved medieval graffiti in the opening on the left, covered by a grate.

What designs can you see?

DID YOU KNOW?

In 1319 England and Scotland were at war. Twenty-four English soldiers held Warkworth Castle against an attack by the Scots.

DID YOU FIND IT?

9 GREAT TOWER

The 1st Earl of Northumberland had the Great Tower built in the late 1390s.

WHERE IS IT?
Beyond the Collegiate Church.

CHALLENGE TIME!

Look at the windows. Which floor do you think the rich and powerful Earl of Northumberland used to live on?

HINT: You can tell how important each room is by its window decoration.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Great Tower was designed in the shape of a Greek cross with four arms of equal length, jutting out from the centre. Seven hundred years later it’s still a masterpiece of building design!

SELF-LED ACTIVITY

SCULPTURE SEEKERS

Recommended for
KS2–3 (History)

Learning objectives
• Understand that there were a variety of people living and working at Warkworth Castle during the 15th century.
• Investigate the roles of the castle’s inhabitants in important events at Warkworth by following character-specific routes around the castle.
• Consider how access to particular areas of the castle was restricted depending on a person’s role and status within the Percy household.

Time to complete
45–60 minutes

SUMMARY

In this activity, students can follow in the footsteps of real figures from Warkworth’s past on special routes to find out more about their experiences of castle life at important moments in the Percy family’s story.

There are five different character routes. Each trail route has been designed to show areas that particular members of the household were permitted to access. This was dependent on their role and place within the castle hierarchy. Your group will be characters as they experience particular events in the castle’s history. The end point of each trail is an interactive sculpture symbolising each character’s role and experiences. The character routes are colour coded (see map on page 36) and clearly marked as you move around the castle.

SUGGESTED APPROACH

Divide your class into smaller groups (each supervised by an adult). Assign a character route to each group or follow characters’ journeys as a whole class. A list of characters, starting points, contexts and themes is on page 35. There is also a map of character routes on page 36.

Older students should pay particular attention to the contexts in which characters were living (for example, the Percys’ uprising against Henry IV in 1403). There are information panels around the castle to support this and further details in the Historical Information in this kit (pages 6–10).

We suggest that students share any important information they have found out about their character(s) with the class once they’ve finished. This will allow them to compare and contrast characters’ daily lives and responsibilities.

MORE LEARNING IDEAS

Back in the classroom, ask students to reflect on the characters, stories and sculptures they discovered at the castle. They could use their understanding to develop design ideas for new sculptures or artworks symbolising people or events from Warkworth’s history.
CHARACTER ROUTE INFORMATION

The five characters have dedicated trails beginning at different points around the castle (a map of these routes is on page 36):

ELEANOR NEVILLE | Countess of Northumberland
Start Point: Stables
Event: The birth of the earl and countess’s first child, 1418.
Themes: Women’s History, Pregnancy and Childbirth, Religion and Belief, Medieval Medicine

JOHN DEL WARDROBE | Servant
Start Point: Buttery (inside Great Tower, first floor)
Event: The 1st Earl of Northumberland enters into a secret alliance to depose Henry IV, 1404.
Themes: Servants, Life in a Medieval Household, Power, Alliances

HENRY PERCY OF ATHOLL | A teenage Percy
Starting Point: Accounting Room (inside Great Tower, ground floor)
Event: The aftermath of the Battle of Shrewsbury, 1403.
Themes: Childhood, Knights, Nature of Lordship and Inheritance, Grief and Loss

WILLIAM STOWE | A loyal retainer
Starting Point: Well House
Event: Henry IV’s arrival at Warkworth to suppress a Percy revolt, 1405.
Themes: Warfare, Attack and Defence, Lordship, Feudalism, Power of the Percys

WIDOW NAWTON | A peasant fish farmer
Starting Point: Behind the kitchens at the bottom of the Great Tower
Event: Henry Percy, 2nd Earl of Northumberland, returns to Warkworth after he confirms his loyalty to the king and secures his titles and lands.
Themes: Peasantry, Feudalism, Food and Drink, Feasting, the Medieval Diet

KS2–3 (History, English, Art)

Learning objectives
• Understand that Warkworth Castle and Hermitage have been an inspiration for writers and artists over time.
• Take inspiration from the castle and its landscape to develop creative outcomes.
• Develop reading, writing and drawing skills.

Time to complete
60–90 minutes

SUMMARY
Warkworth Castle and Hermitage has provided inspiration for artists and writers throughout history, from Shakespeare to JMW Turner. The castle also appeared on posters advertising British Railways in the mid 20th century.

This activity encourages students to take on the role of an artist or writer gathering inspiration from Warkworth Castle and its surrounding area. Print the sheets on pages 41–42 double-sided, either on A4 or A3. Ensure that you have enough copies for your class. Directions between stops can be found in the Teachers’ Notes on pages 38–40.

To get the most out of this resource, it’s helpful for students to have: a pen or pencil and possibly a notebook or sketch pad to record their responses in more detail.

BEFORE YOUR VISIT
It might be useful for the class to practise listening to the environment around them and consider adjectives describing what they can hear and see. In preparation for drawing a view, you could introduce viewpoints, horizon lines and vanishing points.

MORE LEARNING IDEAS
After their visit, students could use their creative responses to develop longer pieces of creative writing or artworks reflecting their experience of Warkworth Castle. Share your work with us @EHEducation.
ACTIVITY | WHERE?
---|---
1. FIRST IMPRESSIONS | Begin on the grassy area near the visitor centre inside the bailey looking towards the Great Tower. We suggest groups start and end in this area, comparing first and departing impressions of the castle.

The Great Tower was built on the orders of Henry Percy, 1st Earl of Northumberland, in the late 1390s. A master builder called John Lewyn designed the tower as an impressive show of the Percy family’s wealth and power.

2. MARVELLOUS MASONs | Look out for masons’ marks inside the tunnel under the Collegiate Church, to the right as you walk towards the Great Tower.

Masons were paid based on how many stones they carved. As many of them couldn’t read or write, they carved symbols in their stones to show which ones they had worked on.

3. BOASTFUL BALLADS | Turn around and head across the bailey to the great hall. This is where entertainments were held in the Middle Ages.

Entertainments in the great hall at Warkworth were varied. At some feasts there were jugglers and storytellers. There could also be minstrels (musicians and singers) who played music but also recited poetry.

4. IF WALLS COULD TALK | Leave the castle and take the steps to the right of the gatehouse towards the river. Follow the footpath alongside the castle walls towards Castle Street.

The 1st Earl of Northumberland and his son, known as Harry Hotspur, worked to depose Richard II in 1399. They soon quarrelled with the new king, Henry IV who marched to Warkworth with an army and cannon in 1405. He successfully took the castle after a short siege.

<td>5. POWERFUL PERCYS</td>
<td>Stop near the gap in the wall which leads to Castle Street. Look back towards the Great Tower, paying particular attention to the Percy lion on this part of the castle. Heraldy was very important in the Middle Ages. The Percy family chose to include a lion on their coat of arms to represent courage and strength.</td>

<td>Stay on the left-hand side of Castle Street as you walk away from the castle. Keep left and continue along Dial Place until you reach the church. As you walk, look out for road names and businesses that have taken their names from the castle and its past inhabitants (for example, Hotspur Court, The Hermitage Inn, Masons Arms). Religion was an important part of medieval life and wealthy families often gave money to their local church or abbey. In the 15th century, the Earl of Northumberland paid for the building of the south aisle in St Lawrence’s Church in Warkworth.</td>

<tr>
<td>7. A BUSTLING BRIDGE</td>
<td>Walk around the back of the church and continue on towards the medieval bridge. This bridge was a major crossing point for people, horses and goods in the medieval period. There is a gatehouse at one end that helped to control movement in and out of Warkworth. This fortified bridge is believed to be one of the last surviving examples in England.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8. RIVER RAMBLE</td>
<td>Retrace your steps back towards the church and take The Stanners to your left. Follow the footpath towards the Hermitage. 1. FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Read this description of Warkworth from a survey of the castle in 1538:

‘Warkworth – A very proper house in good repair. There is a marvellous proper dungeon of eight towers all joined in one house …’

Write three words or phrases describing the castle today.

2. MARVELLOUS MASONS

The masons who built Warkworth left behind makers’ marks on the stones they cut.

Find the masons’ marks in the tunnel under the church.

Sketch one in the box below:

3. BOASTFUL BALLADS

In 1771, Bishop Percy published a long poem called The Hermit of Warkworth. This praised the medieval earls of Northumberland.

Write a boastful sentence about yourself. Act it out to a partner using gestures and a confident tone.

10 A VIEW OF WARKWORTH

Warkworth has inspired lots of artists – from painters like JMW Turner in 1799 to railway poster designers in the 20th century.

Choose a part of the castle to sketch on your walk back from the Hermitage.

11 SURVEYING THE SCENE

Return to the castle gatehouse and climb the stairs to our art bench. Each seat points you towards a different area of the castle.

Write a short sentence summing up how you would describe Warkworth to someone at home.
POST-VISIT

Information and activities to help you extend your students’ learning back in the classroom.
A historical source is something that tells us about life in the past, such as a document, a picture or an object. It may be a primary source, from the time, or a secondary source, created later. Our experts have chosen these sources to help you learn about Warkworth Castle history.

This is a modern map with overlaid symbols to show the types and extent of property owned by the Percy family in Northumberland, Cumbria and Yorkshire during the 15th century.
‘Henry Percy, first Earl of Northumberland, built a great tower on the motte of Warkworth Castle […] Its internal arrangements were extraordinarily complex, and included a great hall, chambers, kitchen, buttery, pantry and storerooms, all skilfully arranged around a central well which culminated in a tower-like lantern. Indeed, most of the great towers of the later Middle Ages displayed an extremely complex and ingenious internal planning, with interlocking halls and apartments, which contrasts with the relative simplicity of the hall- or tower-keep of the twelfth century.’

This extract is from The Medieval Castle in England and Wales: A social and political history by NJG Pounds (1991).
‘BREAKFAST FOR MY LORD AND LADY

First a loaf of bread in trenchers [thick slices used as plates], 2 manchets [small loaves or rolls], a quart [1 litre] of beer, a quart of wine, 2 pieces of saltfish, 6 baconed herrings, 4 white herrings or a dish of sprats.

BREAKFAST FOR MY LORD AND MASTER PERCY

Item: half a loaf of household bread, a manchet, a pottel of beer [about 4 litres], a dish of butter, a piece of saltfish, a dish of sprats or 3 white herrings.

BREAKFAST FOR THE NURSERY FOR MY LADY MARGARET AND MASTER INGRAM PERCY

Item: a manchet, a quart of beer, a dish of butter, a piece of saltfish, a dish of sprats or 3 white herrings.

BREAKFAST FOR MY LADY’S GENTLEWOMEN

Item: a loaf of bread, a pottel of beer, a piece of saltfish or 3 white herrings.

BREAKFAST FOR MY LORD’S BROTHERS AND HEAD OFFICERS OF HOUSEHOLD

Item: 2 loaves of bread, a manchet, a gallon of beer, 2 pieces of saltfish and 4 white herrings.

BREAKFAST FOR YEOMEN OFFICERS OF HOUSEHOLD, YEOMEN OF THE CHAMBER AND YEOMEN WAITERS

Item: 2 loaves of bread, a gallon of beer and 2 pieces of saltfish.’

This extract is from The Earl of Northumberland’s Household Book, created in about 1512 for Henry Percy, 5th Earl of Northumberland. You can view the book online at:
https://www.british-history.ac.uk/letters-papers-hen8/vol13/no1

The household records offer an important view of day-to-day life at properties held by the Percys. This source shows the food and drink allocated to the household in rank order for the period of Lent, before Easter, when people were expected to fast.
SOURCE 5

‘Warkworth – A very proper house, in good repair. There is a marvellous proper dongeon of eight towers all joined in one house, one of which needs repair. “It rains very much” in the dining chamber and the little chamber over the gates where the Earl lay himself. A new horse mill is wanted. Cost, 40l. 3s. 4d. and 4 fother of lead.’

This extract is from a survey of Warkworth Castle in 1538. You can view it online at: Letters and Papers, Foreign and Domestic, Henry VIII, Volume 13 Part 1, January–July 1538 https://www.british-history.ac.uk/letters-papers-hen8/vol13/no1

It describes the ‘dongeon’ (great tower) as ‘marvellous’ and summarises the areas needing repair. Costs are described in pounds (l), shillings (s) and pence (d).

SOURCE 6

‘The castell of Warkworth ys situate one the river Cockett, one the south side of the same river ys one little mount partly mad by nature of the ground with the course of the said river one the west syde and on the east and north sydes with motes casten and mad by men’s worke, and one the sowth part ys the waye and passadge to and from the sayd castell.’

This is an extract from George Clarkson’s survey of Warkworth Castle in 1567. You can view it online in A History of Northumberland, Volume 4 by John Crawford Hodgson, FSA, at: https://archive.org/details/historyofnorthum05nort/page/60/mode/2up?view=theater

It describes the setting of Warkworth Castle and identifies the ‘litle mount’ on which the castle was built, with the river Coquet surrounding it on three sides. The Middle English has been maintained to give a sense of how language has developed since the 16th century.

SOURCE 7

‘In the same square a buttrye, pantrye, and ketchinge, which are now also in utter decay and at the thentrye in the hall for the proche thereof ys rayesd a litle square towre wherein is two chambers, and on the foresyd in stone portrayed a lyon verie wrokmanly wrought and therefore called the lyon towre the same ys covered with lead and in good reparacions.’

This is another extract from George Clarkson’s survey of Warkworth Castle in 1567.

It describes the hall range at Warkworth Castle, with the service rooms in ‘utter decay’ and the ‘lyon towre’ which, for comparison, is in good condition.

‘… “First tell me father,” said the youth,
“(Nor blame my eager tongue,) What town is near? What lands are these?
And to what lord belong?”

“Alas! my son,” the Hermit said,
“Why do I live to say, The rightful lord of these domains
Is banish’d far away?
“Ten winters now have shed their snows
On this my lowly hall, Since valiant Hotspur (so the North
Our youthful lord did call)

“Against Fourth Henry Bolingbroke
Led up his northern powers, And, stoutly fighting, lost his life
Near proud Salopia’s towers.

“One son he left, a lovely boy His country’s hope and heir; And, oh! to save him from his foes
It was his grandsire’s care.

“In Scotland safe he plac’d the child Beyond the reach of strife, Not long before the brave old Earl
At Braham lost his life.

“And now the Percy name, so long Our northern pride and boast, Lies hid alas! beneath a cloud; Their honors reft and lost.

“No chieftain of that noble house Now leads our youth to arms; The bordering Scots despoil our field, And ravage all our farms …’

This is an extract from the ballad The Hermit of Warkworth written by Bishop Thomas Percy in 1771. He was chaplain and secretary to the 2nd Duke of Northumberland and also tutored his son, Algernon. The duke’s influence allowed Bishop Percy to rise to become Dean of Carlisle Cathedral and later Bishop of Dromore in County Down, Ireland. His ballad offers a romantic history of the hermitage and the Percy family during the Middle Ages.

Learning objectives
• Understand the history of heraldry and mottos.
• Investigate the heraldic displays on the Lion Tower and Great Tower at Warkworth Castle.
• Use medieval heraldic symbols to develop new coats of arms.

Time to complete
Approx. 60 minutes

SUMMARY
The Percys used heraldry at Warkworth Castle to strengthen and promote their identity during the Middle Ages. This activity will help students understand the meanings behind heraldic symbols and motifs. They will also reflect on the ways the Percys used heraldry in the development of Warkworth Castle to create their own coats of arms.

Aristocratic families started to use heraldry to distinguish themselves from each other during the 12th century. They created badges or logos which evolved into coats of arms, shields, banners and mottos. These distinctive heraldic designs were worn on clothing by men, women, children and servants. They represented particular families and became as recognisable as modern brands or sports team logos.

INVESTIGATING AND DEVELOPING HERALDRY
Show students an image of the Lion Tower (Source 3, page 45) and ask them to identify any heraldic features they can see. Use the Teachers’ Notes on page 51 to help facilitate discussion.

Students can use the activity sheets on pages 52–54 as a guide for developing their own coats of arms. They could choose to represent themselves, their families, their class or even their school.

You could also search the English Heritage website for our online beginner’s guide to heraldry for more ideas.

MORE LEARNING IDEAS
Students could deepen their understanding of their own family or local heraldry by searching for information online and using it to develop their designs. They could build on this by making their designs into a medieval shield or banner. Search English Heritage’s YouTube channel for our short cardboard shield tutorial (1 min 54 secs) to help with this.
You can see the remains of Percy heraldry on the Lion Tower. This was the grand entrance to the great hall, a place where the household would meet for feasting and entertainments during the 14th and 15th centuries.

The heraldry shown here is made up of symbols that were important to the Percy family. The meanings behind these suggest how the Percys wanted to be seen. Some of the symbols also referenced the Percys’ ties to other important families.

1. The Percy lion – a symbol of power and bravery used by the Earl of Northumberland and his family. Its collar includes the Percy’s war-cry ‘Esperaunce en Dieu’, meaning ‘Hope in God’.

2. The old Percy coat of arms – diamonds in a row on a shield. The Percy family stopped using this symbol in 1343 and replaced it with a lion when it became more fashionable.

3. The Percy family badge – a small moon shape or crescent.

4. The Lucy coat of arms – three fish (or ‘luces’) on a shield – a play on the name of the Lucy family who the Percys inherited land, buildings and money from in the 1380s.
Create a coat of arms that represents you. Follow these heraldic rules:

1 BACKGROUND
The first step in making your coat of arms.

- Azure
- Vert
- Sable
- Purpure
- Or (Gold)
- Argent (Silver)
- Ermine (Furs)
- Vair

2 ORDINARY
A simple shape that goes over the top of your background.

- Fess
- Pale
- Bend
- Chevron
- Cross
- Saltire
- Chief
- Bordure
- Pile

3 CHARGE
Emblems that can go anywhere on your coat of arms.

- Cross
- Star
- Ring
- Balls
- Crescent
- Diamond

HINT
The Percys used fish (luces) on their coat of arms because they had inherited land from the Lucy family.

TIP
Use the ‘Guide to Heraldry’ on the English website to help you.
DID YOU KNOW?

Elements of heraldry went in and out of fashion. The Percys replaced the diamonds on their coat of arms when lions became more fashionable.

ANIMAL

You could use an animal as your charge. Choose one of these, or pick your own.

Lions = bravery

Dog = reliability

Stag = wisdom

Eagle = power

Hare = speed

OBJECT

You can also choose any object that represents you. Here are some ideas:

• A musical instrument
• Sports equipment
• Your favourite book
• Someone in your family

MOTTO

A motto is a short sentence that summarises what motivates you or what you think is important. For example, the Scout motto is 'Be Prepared'. Dieu et mon droit means 'God and my right'.

Don’t worry, your motto doesn’t have to be in Latin!
SELF-LED ACTIVITY
TACKLING TRICKY SOURCES

Recommended for
KS3–4+ (History, English)

Learning objectives
• Interrogate historical sources and gather information from them.
• Use sources relating to Warkworth Castle to explore how the English language has developed over time.

Time to complete
Approx. 30 minutes

SUMMARY
This activity helps students decipher written medieval texts and consider the problems and benefits of using a range of historical sources.

Written sources can be particularly difficult to decipher because the English language has evolved over time.

EXAMPLE
Original text from George Clarkson’s survey (1567): ‘The castell of Warkworth ys situate one the ryver of Cockett.’ [as on page 47]
Standard English translation: ‘Warkworth Castle is situated on the river Coquet.’

DECIPHERING AND APPRAISING SOURCES
For each of the written sources in the Sources section of this pack retaining old English spellings (pages 46, 47, 49), students can work in pairs to:
1. Read the source aloud, focusing on the sound of the words.
2. Highlight key words and look up any they don’t understand.
3. Try to translate the text into Standard English.

Along with these written sources, choose a selection of image-based sources, in this kit. Students should consider the pros and cons of using written and image-based sources generally, recording their thoughts on paper before sharing with a partner or the class.

MORE LEARNING IDEAS
Build on students’ understanding by asking them to debate the strengths and limitations of using the sources in this kit to understand Warkworth’s history.
