

Look closer

See history in a new light

Autumn's an awesome time to take a closer look at historic sites, because the colours of trees are changing and the sun's getting lower in the sky. Follow these fun activities and find out if you too can see history in a new light.

Can you spot the colours?

write down where you find them...

☐ Golden yellow

☐ Burnt orange

☐ Deep red

☐ Earth brown

☐ Forest green

☐ Soft sage

☐ Sky blue

☐ Stone white

Look a little closer...

Can you name a colour that changes as the light shifts?

Where does nature grow alongside history?

Find a hidden splash of colour most visitors might miss

Where is there a contrast between old stone and the landscape?

What was your favourite view of the day?

Photographer's eye

Can you take a picture of:

A patch of colour against ancient stone ☐

Light shining through trees or windows ☐

A colourful reflection ☐

A close-up of texture and colour ☐

Your favourite autumn view ☐

Take a moment

If you had to choose just one colour to sum up your visit today, what would it be?

Share your autumn photos with us! Tag @englishheritage